“ There are so many memories of Darren just don't no where to start. I will treasure all of them in my heart until the end. He had a smile and his laugh was priceless . I can't find the words to Express what a blessing he was. He was so happy with his job and his marriage but most of all his love for his son was precious. Darren glowed every time you would see him. His son was his world . Rest in peace Darren

“ One of the baby brother shared a memory so I figured I would share one too. Darren is my twin brother, so the memories are endless but the most recent one was he was having some rough times so he was able to get away for awhile & him, Korey & Kody came to the Springs to spend the day w/ Alex & I as well as the in-laws, however we were running so late & I was upset because it was supposed to be a morning spent with the wolf pack (little did I know I was pregnant... sweet sweet hormones) anyways I was texting Boob all morning & I told him something along the time lines of "I want to cry, but please make sure I dont look like a little bh in front of anyone, thugs dont cry" & once we got there he threw his arm over my shoulder & walked me away for just a moment & he stuck by my side the whole day until the wolf pack had to leave, even though he was slightly hangry & cranky. He was & is my guardian forever.

“ Im Diego LaCome and im one of Darren's little brothers and i remember a time when me and him used to restle with our cousin and he would play with his dog and his dog loved me and his sons face would light up whenever his dad came in the room. Im gonna miss him but his son is the light through the darkness.

“ Josie and Ronnie I am so very sorry for your loss. Please know I hold you all in prayer
